'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

One of the funniest ads we have ever seen appeared in a certain journal the other day.

* * * *

"Do you want a big mailing list?" the ad asked. And it went on to explain in glowing details how many manufacturers ship out samples of their goods each year. This ad declared that you, too, could receive these samples by merely sending your name and address to this directory firm. And also send ten cents.

* * * *

Some of you business men, who are swamped with circular letters each day, ought to send in your name and address. Maybe some of these "manufacturers" would send you a sample of bombs, guns or poisons with which you could do away with these pests who anoy you with circular letters.

* * * *

This all reminds us about some of these ads that appear in magazines. Fill in the missing letter in N—w Y—rk and and you will win a new Packard and $5000 in cash.

* * * *

And if you are silly enough, you fill in the missing letters, send it in to the "puzzle bureau" and then are drowned with a flood of circular letters.

* * * *

But there are some contests that are on the square. A certain national magazine has been featuring puzzles in its issues each week and has profited by it. Thousands purchase the magazine, just for the puzzles.

* * * *

Then there is a radio contest asking for ideas for a radio cabinet.

* * * *

A certain automobile firm has just finished up a contest in which one writes why one would buy that certain type of automobile. This was a clever way to advertise the automobile as thousands rode in them and drove them so they could write in the contest.

* * * *

These contests were "square". The manufacturers were willing to give something for nothing in order that they might advertise their products or increase the circulation of their magazine.

* * * *

But as long as the great American public will seek to get something for nothing, for nothing, these other fake "puzzle" contests will exist.

MAGAZINE IN NEW GRID ATTACK

BERKELEY, Dec. 3.—UP—Members of the committee of associated students at the University of California acted quickly tonight to maintain cordial relations with the University of Southern California and "condemned" an article that had appeared in the Occident, literary magazine of the college.

Several hours before the Occident had been circulated on the compus for the first time in two years, the period of suspension ordered by former President W. W. Campbell for objectionable articles having terminated recently.

In it was an article by David G. Lyons, senior in the college of letters and Science which said in part:

"At one of our neighboring universities to the south, whose football team has enjoyed unprecedented success this year, rumors or subsidization has been large and general.

"Within the last five years three former football players of that institution has committed major felonies in this state. The inference is not that this university hires burglars to play football, but that football players got to 'like nice things.' They could not earn them so they stole them."

The executive committee announced it has passed the following resolutions:

"Resolved, that the executive committee hereby condemn the references to 'One of our neighboring universities to the south' appearing in the article entitled 'Saturnalia' on intercollegiate football in the current issue of the Occident.

"Further resolved that the chairman of this committee Stern Altshuler president of the student body, appoint a sub committee to present a plan for the prevention of the recurrence of the republication in campus papers of editorials and articles detrimental to the interest of the university."

Policeman Slain In Havana Riots

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 3.—UP—One policeman was killed and many persons were hurt in a recurrence of student riots in the capital today.

The policeman was Oscar Sanchez. He died of gunshot wounds.

Thirty students were arrested. Police reserves quickly restored order.

The government in a statement said the army would not be called out so long as the police maintained order.

An investigation was ordered, and the students were held pending its findings.

The riot was the latest of several student outbreaks in Havana and elsewhere throughout Cuba in the past two months. President Gerardo Machado proclaimed martial law recently, as a result of similar rioting which resulted in six deaths and many wounded.

The authorities insist the situation has not become serious, despite the recurrence of violence.

Loot Recovered In Noble Holdup

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—UP—Safe deposit boxes rented by Frank E. Smith, slain bandit leader, were opened by federal authorities today and their refusal to comment later was taken as indication that valuable information had been uncovered.

A rumor circulated in the federal building here that a "substantial" amount of the $56,000 taken in a train robbery near Berkeley several weeks ago had been found.

"We'll talk later, but not now," George Austin, postal inspector, said.

An extra guard was placed over Smith's widow, who has been indicted on charges of train robbery at the point of a gun and furthering a robbery, when she was quoted as saying she "didn't care if she died." Her bail has been set at $100,000.

Alfred Boss and George Davis will pay with their lives at Folsom for the murder of a Sacramento grocery clerk.

WORK TO END SATURDAY, REPORT

The new sanitary sewer section to serve the industrial district at the foot of Tenth street, will be completed at the end of this week, City Engineer E. A. Hoffman announced yesterday.

The contractors, Jasper-Stacey company, have done the work on schedule, the engineer said.

The report of the construction of the system will be presented to the city council for its approval in about two weeks by Hoffman.

The portion which is rapidly nearing completion, is a section of the purposed sanitary sewer system which would be constructed in this city at a cost of more than one million dollars.

The section connects with the Fourteenth street sewer, crosses Dock avenue to Tenth street and then follows Tenth to the harbor. It is a combined sanitary and storm sewer.

The cost of the new section is estimated at more than $150,000.

One of the features of the work on the new outfall sewer was the fact that a section of it was under water. This called for a diver, who worked on the job for more than three days.

CHANGES IN CONGRESS DISTRICT

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 3.—If the bill that has been drafted by Assemblyman Percy West of this city is adopted by the coming legislature, political lines in the state will be changed to a great extent.

Under the plan proposed, the lines of the new congressional district are set forth, as well as those of the assembly districts. The new alignment will be made by the federal apportionment plan, which was adopted by the voters of the state.

Under the West bill southern California would have 43 assemblymen, which would give the south the control of the house.

In the senate, the control would lie in the rural counties, which would act as a check on the domination of the big cities of the state.

Under the proposed bill Contra Costa would be taken out of the third district and with a portion of Alameda county would form the sixth.

Congressional Districts

First—Del Norte, Humboldt, Mendocino, Glenn, Colusa, Lake, Napa, Sonoma, Marin, Solano; population 267,167.

Second — Siskiyou, Trinity, Shasta, Modoc, Lassen, Tehama, Butte, Yuba, Plumas, Nevada, Sierra, Placer, Eldorado, Amador, Alpine, Mono, Calaveras, Tuol-

Judge Protested In L. A. Trial

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—UP—The state supreme court late today took under re-submission the request of the Los Angeles record for a writ of prohibition against Superior Judge Frank C. Collier, hearing charges of contempt of the grand jury brought against the newspaper by the Los Angeles county bar association.

A few minutes before the case was re-submitted, counsel for the newspaper asked that the jurists throw out of court the entire contempt proceedings.

The plea of Attorney W. H. Neblett, representing the Record, brought only indirect opposition, as attorneys for the bar association were not present. Deputy County Counsel R. W. Kenny, representing Judge Collyer, declared that the motion to throw out the charges could not be made at this time as the only question was whether an affidavit of prejudice filed against Judge Collyer would disqualify him.

In his argument, Neblett held that in all cases cited against the Record, the paper had been discussing cases the grand jury should hove been investigating and not cases then pending before the jury.

The court has 90 days from January 1 in which to hand down its decision. The case was reopened when the court was unable to agree after previously taking the case under submission.

MANY TANKS EXPLODE IN BLAZE

BROOKLYN, Dec. 3.—UP—Fire threatened to destroy the Pratt branch of the Standard Oil company at North Twelfth street and Kent avenue here late tonight after explosion of one of the eight 10,000 gallon tanks containing crude oil.

Flames spread to the other tanks, which exploded in turn, and then to eight 10,000 gallon tanks of turpentine. Five alarms were turned in and fire apparatus was rushed from Manhattan.

Police reported two additional oil tanks on the waterfront blew up, making a total of 18 tanks which had exploded.

Police Called

All police emergency squads in Brooklyn were rushed to the scene.

One thousand feet from the blaze is an illuminating gas tank of the Williamsburg branch of the Brooklyn Union Gas company and every effort was made to prevent the flames from approaching this tank.

Large Fire

The fire extended over an area of half a city block and could be seen for several miles.

Two distinct areas of fire developed. One was that in which eight oil tanks were located and the other where the turpentine tanks were burning.

Many ambulances were rushed to the scene for emergency use. John O'Brien, believed to be an employe of the plant was cut about the hands and was treated on the scene.

Docks Afire

The flaming oil flowed into the East river and all docks between North Twelfth street and Quay street were aflame.

Residents within an area of ten square blocks were forced to leave their homes when dense clouds of smoke poured from the sewers into which burning oil had flowed.

The fireboat New Yorker and two barges caught fire and other boats turned away from the fire on shore to extinguish these blazes. The New Yorker was slightly damaged.

The flaming oil spread over the waters of the river and became a serious threat to craft.

TRACK MEET AT HIGH SCHOOL CALLED OFF

The large Eastbay high school track meet will not be held this term on the Richmond Union high school track as formerly scheduled by the high school Cross-Country Running club. The cause for the cancellation of the meet is the beginning of basketball season, which is now occupying much of the time of high school athletes.

The meet was to have been sponsored by the local running club. A large number of Eastbay high schools were to have participated in the event.

The activities of the Richmond Union high school running club are practically over for the fall semester. The members of the club, which was organized at the beginning of the term, have taken part in two Eastbay high school meets. The meet with Tamalpais high school of San Rafael was won by Tamalpais by the narrow margin of one point. The second and last meet with Alameda high school was easily won by Richmond Union high school, the locals taking first, third, fourth, fifth and sixth places. Al Cezario captured first place in both meets, while Schuyler Albert also did well in both events. Each meet consisted of a cross-country run of approximately two miles.

Besides participating in these two meets, the members of the local club also listened to addresses by well-known athletes of the Eastbay and held several club workouts in surrounding open country.

Schuyler Albert was president of the club during the past term, while Grover Johnson acted as secretary. V. Culbertson of the high school faculty acted as advisor to the club.

The principal purpose of the organization was the preparation of a strong Richmond Union high school track team for the coming spring track season, when the local school will, for the second time, participate in Alameda County Athletic league track competition.

MOON MULLINS OUT OF GAME REPORT

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 3.—UP—A knee injury will keep Larry 'Moon' Mullins, Notre Dame fullback, out of the game with Southern California at Los Angeles Saturday, Coach Knute Rockne announced when the Irish arrived here from Chicago today.

Rockne said that Mullins was injured in the Army game last Saturday and that he did not plan to use him against the Trojans.

Dan Hanley, 195 pound Butte, Mont., boy, will start in place of Mullins. Mullins recently became first string fullback through the loss of Joe Savoldi, suspended from school.

A crowd of more than 1000 persons greeted Rockne and his players when they arrived here for a two-day stopover enroute to Los Angeles.

Almost 4000 witnessed practice, held later. Signal drill, defense against passes and dummy scrimmage comprised the workout. The players remained on the field until a light rain set in and drove them to cover.

Rockne plans to hold two workouts here tomorrow, morning and afternoon, and then leave for Los Angeles Thursday night.

The Notre Dame team lined up in practice today as follows: Host, le; Culver, lt; Kassis, lg; Yarr, c; Metzger, rg; Kurth, rt; Conley, re; Carideo, qb; Schwartz, lhb; Brill, rhb; Hanley, fb.

Rockne said that this was the team he planned to start against Southern California. The only possible change will be at left end where O'Brien or Kosky may start in place of Host. Rockne has no idea of starting his shock troops, and is planning to keep his regulars in the game as long as it is in doubt.

Kerr, Hanley Will Pick All Eastern Team

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—UP—Dick Hanley and Andy Kerr, football coaches at Northwestern and Colgate universities respectively, will cooperate in organizing an eastern team to play in the annual east-west football game at San Francisco Christmas week.

Hanley is selecting a team of graduating mid-western stars and Kerr will recruit an eastern squad. The two groups will meet at Evanston, Dec. 16 for practice prior to embarking for the coast.

Frank Baker and Wade Woodworth of Northwestern, Milt Gantenbein and Milo Lubratovich of Wisconsin; Gordon Van Bibber of Purdue, Sam Selby of Ohio State and Jack Wheeler of Michigan already have accepted invitations to join Hanley's squad.

Turkey Tennis Tourney Nears End At Courts

The finals of the doubles in the Richmond Tennis association's turkey handicap tennis tournament will be played off Sunday afternoon on the city hall courts. The team consisting of Adrian Newman and Clarence Garibotti will tangle with Joe Zink and Ray Melin at either one or two o'clock, Newman and Garibotti will be playing with an 0-30 handicap, while Zink and Melin will have a handicap of 0-15-3-6.

Sutton played with an 0-30 handicap, while Potts' was playing from scratch. Sutton then defeated Wally Kruger 9-7 and 7-5. Sutton also had a handicap of 0-30 in this match and Kruger had a handicap of 0-15-3-15. Sutton received a $5 turkey order for winning the singles title. FAST GAMES IN CAGE LEAGUE TONIGHT

The McRacken Clothiers will have their chance to go into a tie for first place with the Santa Fe cagers tonight when they tangle with the Studebakers.

The Mastercraft Roofers and Ben Malik's five will provide action in tonight's B division clash.

The Studebakers will certainly give the McRacken boys a battle royal this evening, judging by the showing of the Studebakers against the Odd Fellows last Monday.

In that contest the Studebakers spoiled the Odd Fellows chances of going immediately into a first place tie with Santa Fe. They also won their first game of the year by defeating the Odd Fellows. Now that they have broken into the winning column, there is a probable chance that the Studebakers will become a genuine threat to the chances of all the other teams in the A division of the Richmond City league. In any case, local fans may expect their usual dish of highly contested basketball tonight in the Roosevelt gymnasium.

The B division is also expected to offer plenty of excitement tonight, as the Roofers and Ben Malik Clothiers have been battling hard to raise their standing in the fast B division competition.

No Action Taken On Draft Problem At League Meeting

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—UP—Further discussion of the draft problem, and a number of trades featured today's session of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues in this city. The draft discussed centered on the apparent unwillingness of the majors to withdraw their ultimatum of last June, which is the first requisite for further negotiations.

International league magnates were disappointed by the announcement that the Chicago Cubs were withdrawing their support of the Reading team. Inability to supply players to two Class AA clubs was given as the reason for this action. The players and franchises are now in the open market.

Irish All Stars To Play In East

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 3.—UP—After previously abandoning plans to have a team of former Notre Dame stars play the New York Giants professional team in New York, December 14, Knute Rockne announced today that he would go through with the game.

He wired Adam Walsh, Yale line coach and captain of the 1924 Four Horsemen, to gather the players at South Bend, and coach them for the game, the proceeds of which will go to charity. Rockne said he did not plan to take an active part in the coaching of the team, but that Walsh would act in his place.

Candidates For All American Honors To Play On Saturday

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—UP—The field will be flooded with bona fide candidates for the all-America football team when Southern California and Notre Dame meet before 90,000 persons at the Coliseum Saturday.

Each team has half a dozen of the ranking stars of the country and perhaps half of them will land on a majority of the outstanding all-star selections.

The foremost all-America candidates from the two teams seem to be:

Notre Dame:

Frank Carideo, quarterback; Marchy Schwartz, halfback; Martin Brill, halfback; Bert Metzger, guard; Tom Conley, end; Alvin Culver, tackle.

Southern California:

Marshall Duffield, quarterback; Orville Mohler, quarterback; Ernie Pinckert, halfback; John Baker, guard; Garrett Arbelbide, end; Ralph Wilcov, end.

Carideo who won all-America laurels last season, seems to be a jump ahead of his two rivals, Duffield and Mohler, before the game, but this is the test which threatens to break as well as make many candidates. Inferior play or bad judgment might even cost Carideo his now almost certain quarterback post of the first team.

On past performances, Carideo has a wide margin over Duffield in generalship and kicking. They seem about equal on passing, with Duffield perhaps the best ball carrier.

But when it comes to carrying the ball, Carideo, Duffield and all the rest may have to make way for little Orville Mohler, 163 pound sophomore. Fleety, shifty and always dangerous, Mohler is a touchdown threat every time he pulls the ball against his dark red jersey.

Howard Jones, Southern California coach, calls Mohler the equal of any ball carrier he has ever seen play. What's more Mohler has developed into a good passer and punter, and is reasonably good on defense. In the 133 times he has carried the ball this season, Mohler has gained 979 yards or an average of 7.2 yards every time he starts on his way. And he has yet to play a full game, and they still call him "Duffield's substitute" because he's just a sophomore.

Mohler, if he lives up to his reputation, and Schwartz, who has made at least one long run in every game this year, promise to supply most of the thrills, and do a majority of the ground gaining.

In the less spectacular side of the game, Brill and Pinckert, rival blocking backs, promise to shine. Brill, 190, and Pinckert 189 play the same relative positions on both offense and defense. Pinckert has a reputation as the hardest hitter in the far west, and Brill has the same sort of a reputation in the east, mid-west and south.

Some of the finest line play of the year is expected from Bert Metzer, 153 pound guard and lightest lineman ever to play for Notre Dame, and John Baker, Southern California's 180-pound running guard.

Both Metzger and Baker are regarded as fifth men in their respective backfields. Both drop out of the line to run interference, and go through and pick off the secondary defense.

Metzger hasn't been outplayed this season, and his fine blocking has been prominent in the many long runs made by the Irish.

Three of the greatest ends of the year, Capt. Tom Conley of Notre Dame, and Wilcox and Arbelbide of Southern California will wage a furious battle for at least one place on the all-America team and possible both of them.

Rockne rates Conley as one of the best ends ever to play under him. Conley is a great pass catcher, making a touchdown against the Trojans last year after taking a pass.

Wilcox, who was kicked in the head in the Hawaii game has recovered and will start against the Irish. Wilcox, who subbed for Francis Tapaan, all-America end last year, is considered the far west's best wingman when he's playing at his best. Arbelbide starred against Notre Dame a year ago, and many expect him to turn in another sprakling game of this season. He is big, and powerful and a terror when on his game.

Court Upholds Gas Cut Act

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—UP—The State Supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the California Oil and Gas conservation act today in a decision denying a plea for a writ which would stay, pending appeal, the effect of a preliminary injunction obtained by the state to prevent wastage of natural gas.

The petitioners were attempting to enjoin the state from proceeding with the enforcement of an injunction granted in Superior court. The writ was asked by the Twin Bell Oil syndicate, Second Twin Bell syndicate and the Star Petroleum corporation, all operating in the Santa Fe Springs field.

Needle Run Into Finger, Out At Elbow

OAKLAND, Dec. 3.—After seven years, a needle which was stuck into the finger of Mrs. Nellie Woods of 7 Pacific avenue Piedmont found its way out at the elbow today.

On March 15, 1923 Mrs. Woods while washing an apron felt the prick of a needle as it hit her finger. Part of the needle broke off and only a surgical operation, that might have endangered the use of her hand, would extract it.

Years passed and the accident was forgotten. Recently Mrs. Woods bumped her elbow and a sharp pain was felt. It was discovered that the needle had worked itself up the elbow. Strong poultices aided in bringing the needle to the surface, where it was extracted.

Savant To Study Skeleton Find In Southern U. S.

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 3.—UP—The reported discovery of remains of an extinct race of giants in the Mexican state of Sonora was under investigation tonight by archaologists of the University of Arizona, who laid plans for a scientific expedition into the territory.

Dr. Bryan Cummings, head of the University Archaology department, told the United Press that J. E. Coker, a veteran mine operator in Sonora, had seen petrified remains of a giant man and knew where others were buried.

Dr. Cummings said he is trying to reach Coker to confirm the report as the basis of an expedition that holds possibilities of adding much to the world's knowledge of prehistoric man.

The skeleton, viewed by Coker, according to Cummings, measured eight feet, three inches in height and was a good example of the ancient race that may have inhabited the district surrounding Sayopa, Sonora.

The Arizona archaologist also will enlist the aid of the science service in Washington in arranging an expedition if the reports are confirmed.

Captain Donald Page, connected with the American diplomatic service in Calcutta, India, also reported to Dr. Cummings that he had seen such a skeleton while on a trip through Mexico.

Dr. Cummings, who has just returned from Duncan, Ariz., where he uncovered the remains of a giant mastodon estimated to be 40,000 years old, said he wanted a personal report from Coker before proceeding with the expedition. He expects to receive word in a short while.

Oakland Church Pastor Resigns

OAKLAND, Dec. 3.—St. John's Anglo-Catholic church here is being "smothered," and for that reason Father John Barrett, rector cannot continue to serve it any longer, he declared in his resignation sent to Bishop Parsons.

The resignation is to become effective Jan. 31, 1931. Father Barrett in his letter to Bishop Parsons stated that attempts to have the church removed to other parts of the city met with objections from other churches, and since the congregation it serves has moved to Piedmont and other parts, there was little use in continuing the work there.

Bishop Parsons had nothing to say except that the problem would be worked out. Father Barrett came to the church from Vallejo in 1921. He said that he would remove his family to a ranch near Placerville and that he might go into missionary work.

ARMY DOCTOR FACES MURDER TRIAL TODAY

KANSAS CITY, Kans., Dec. 3.—UP-Major Charles A. Shepard, noted Army surgeon, will go to trial for his life in the federal district court here tomorrow. Charged with the murder of his wife, Zenana McCoskey Shepard, he becomes the central figure in a trial expected to prove one of the most sensational of recent years.

But there are other figures who must share the spotlight at this murder trial.

There is Grace Brandon, for one. Pretty and blonde, she was a stenographer at Brooks Field. The government will contend Major Shepard met her and fell in love with her. For her sake, prospecutors will say, he poisoned his wife with bichloride of mercury, giving her small doses as she lay ill at Fort Riley in June, 1929.

Miss Brandon, to give another sensational turn to the affair, will be the state's star witness. She is expected to tell how the major made love to her.

Then there is Major Paul R. Hawley, another mainstay witness, for the state. Major Hawley, like Major Shepaard, is an Army surgeon. He, according to Major Shepard, was the first to suggest and urge an autopsy for Mrs. Shepard. Major Shepard openly hates his former co-worker.

It appeared certain testimony along two definite lines will be introduced by the defense. First, there will be a great mass of expert medical testimony to refute the testimony of government witnesses concerning the poison found in the woman's stomach.

An effort will be made to show that she might have died from any one of a number of things, including alcoholism, and some brain disease. Much stress is expected to be laid upon the point that the autopsy performed upon Mrs. Shepard did not include an examination of the chest, head, or brain.

Bomb Attack On Heir Probed

HAYWARD, Dec. 3.—UP— Inheritance of $12,000 from an old friend has apparently made R. B. Palmer, 48, a target for bullets and bombs, police decided tonight as they sought the person who planted a bomb in Palmer's home here.

The bomb was discovered shortly after Palmer reported to authorities that six shots were fired at him Tuesday night. He also revealed that a volley of bullets was fired at him from an automobile two weeks ago.

Palmer recently inherited $12,000 from Louis Bianchi, a Klondike, Alaska, miner. Frank H. Arb, attorney representing him, said he had received several telephone calls threatening him with violence if he continued with the will case.

JUST IMAGINE TO BE SHOWN AT THE FOX

With the rapid development of the airplane and other modes of transportation and the increasing problem of traffic in our great cities, what will New York look like in 1980?

Buddy DeSylva, Lew Brown and Ray Henderson, multi-millionaire authors and song writers, have attempted to answer that question in "Just Imagine," their second Fox Movietone comedy with songs.

Huge modernistic skyscrapers tower 200 and more stories above the street level. Fleets of airplanes, all equipped with helicopters that permit straight up and down flying, coming to a complete stop in the air, cruise the air lines. Aerial traffic cops, in anchored balloons, direct traffic. Great air liners bring all the capitals of the world within a few hours travel of the American metropolis.

Nine traffic levels are provided, ranging from subways, surface trams, elevated railways and five automobile levels, to a novel canal system that permits great ocean liners to traverse the main thoroughfares, discharging freight and passengers much as do the huge buses of our day.

This one background is the greatest ever attempted in talking pictures, according to preview word, and its beauty and magnificence is a tribute to the imagination of DeSylva, Brown and Henderson and the technical skill of their director, David Butler, and Stephen Goosson and Ralph Hammeras, art directors.

Of the thousand and one novelties which add to the entertainment value of "Just Imagine," this dream city of 1980 probably will stand out as most effective, as you will see today and tomorrow at the Fox-California Theater.

The cast of "Just Imagine" includes El Brendel, Maureen O'Sullivan, John Garrick, Marjorie White and Frank Albertson.

Many Arrested In Dry Raids In Northwest

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 3.—UP—Seventy-five persons had been arrested on charges of possession of liquor tonight, and other arrests were expected during the next few days, as a result of raids in this district by federal prohibition officers under command of Carl Jackson, regional administrator.

The raids followed two months of undercover work by federal operative in the Grays Harbor district.

The prisoners, who were at first placed in an improvised stockade, surrounded by guards, were later taken to city and county jails. Bail for every person arrested; with exception of two, was set at $1,000.

Many of the prisoners declared that they wished to "lay out the fines in jail," as times are "too hard to make any money anyway."

A majority of those men arrested waived preliminary hearing, and as a result, were bound over to federal court at Tacoma.

Healthiest Girl Named At Meeting

CHICAGO, Dec. 3. —UP— The healthiest girl in the United States is 15-year-old Marian E. Syndegaard of Grundy county, Iowa.

And a large day it was for her, too, what with being chosen 1930 health champion by the 4-H club congress getting her picture taken by a veritable horde of cameramen, making a speech for the talking pictures and telling a complete assortment of scribes how the healthiest girl got that way.

William R. Bodenhamer, 20, of Johnson county, Mo., was chosen simultaneously as the nation's boy. He went through the same ordeal, but Marian somehow stole the show.

Marian, a senior in high school and the seventh child of a family of eight, won the contest with a health score of 99.7.

Young Bodenhamer won the masculine health championship with a score of 98.7.

Progress Of City Told In C. C. Paper

Forward steps made by Richmond during the past year in attracting new industries, and progress that has been made by those already established here, are set forth in the current number of Richmond United, which will be in the hands of the membership today.

Emphasis is laid on the fact that two new industries have been brought to Richmond in a year of general national depression. The Filice and Perrelli cannery was completed and turned out 350,000 cases of canned goods, and construction was started on the $5,000,000 Ford assembling plant. The latter will be in operation by the summer of 1931.

Great headway was made on the Ellis canal dredging project, regarded as the outstanding piece of harbor and industrial development launched during 1930.

"This project is approximately 60 percent completed," said the Chamber report. "The work is being done by the San Francisco Bridge company. The project will extend the present inner harbor, providing immense new berthing space and creating more than 200 additional acres of excellent, industrial land served by rail, water and highway. The private owners behind the plan are the Santa Fe railroad, San Francisco Bridge company, Dincanson and Harrelson, J. A. Banzohf, Enterprise Foundry, Richmond Navigation company and Richmond Enterprise company. The latter is controlled by Harry Wernse, who is completing a modern yacht harbor at Cutting boulevard, which will be ready this winter."

Other industries which are described as having made good progress this year are the MacMillan Oil company, Richmond Pressed Brick company, Standard Oil, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads, and the Certain-teed Products corporation.

P. M. Sanford, president of the Chamber, reported that "with the tremendous investments already made in Richmond and with the plans for expansion now under consideration by existing industries, Richmond Industries, Richmond can well take pride in the enterprise of its people that has made Richmond the bright spot on the Pacific coast."

W. W. Scott reported that the traffic committee had secured valuable concessions in matters of rail and water rates and would continue its work in 1931.

U. S. WOMAN IS HELD IN ITALY AS PLOTTER

ROME, Dec. 3.—UP—An elderly, aristocratic american woman, widow of an Italian poet, whose literary salons attracted a select group of intellectuals, was held by police today on charges of complicity in a plot against the Fascist regime.

The authorities said Mrs. Adolfo de Bosis, formerly Lillian Vernon of St. Louis, Mo., Boston, and Syracuse, N. Y., had confessed. She and two men were held in connection with charges relating to the printing and issuance of an anti-Fascist pamphlet entitled, "National Alliance for Liberty."

Nine numbers of the pamphlet had appeared, the police said. They asserted that a small printing press had been found hidden in Mrs. de Bosis's bedroom, and that she had not sought to deny the charge.

Confesses Work

"I am not a sheep," the police reported Mrs. de Bosis, 63 years old but vigorous and defiant, had declared on being confronted with the purported proof of her connection with the plot. "This is my work."

She was held in the infirmary in a woman's prison in Rome.

The men arrested were Renzo Rendi, correspondent for New York newspapers, and Mario Vinciguerra, author and translator of English and American literature.

Mrs. de Bossis's late husband was widely known for his translations of Shelley's poems into Italian. She has three sons, one of whom is connected with the Italo-American society in New York, and with Columbia University. Mrs. de Bosis has a sister understood to be living in Syracuse, N. Y.

The arrest of Mrs. de Bosis and her alleged conspirators was a result of the roundup of three different groups today, all of whom were declared to be plotting against the Fascist regime.

The de Bosis group was the first arrested. Their literary conferences included persons with Italo-American connections. They were regarded as Liberals not preaching violence, but merely sending pamphlets to friends deploring the Fascist government.

The second group involved in the day's police activities included 24 so-called intellectuals, some of them prominent, arrested on charges of plotting against the state and of preaching violence. Members of this group were reported to have espoused Republican tendencies, and to have communicated with anti-Fascist organizations abroad.

The third group rounded up in a day of unusual activity by the "Vilante" police, were reported to be Communists accused of seeking to form a party of Emelia and Romagna. Pamphlets of the Communists were declared to have been discovered and all the organizers arrested, police said.

BATTLE SEEN IN SENATE SESSION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. —UP— The senate was primed with enough controversial projects today to keep battles going until well after Christmas.

President Hoover sent to the capitol nominations for the full membership of the tariff and power commissions, and western tariff and waterpower senators indicated both sets of nominations would be very closely examined. Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the new tariff commission, and two new power commissioners particularly will be the object of critical scrutiny, it was indicated.

The new power men are George Otis Smith, chief of the U. S. geological survey since 1907, and Frank R. McInch of North Carolina. Smith, nominated for a five-year term and slated for chairman, was a witness in the Teapot Dome investigations, and McInch was a leader in his state's 1928 campaign. He was nominated as a Democrat to the Bipartisan commission. Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Rep., Iowa, on hearing reports that the North Carolina lawyer has represented power interests of his state, said "that doesn't look so good." Other leaders refused to comment until the records of the two men are fully investigated.

The nomination of William N. Doak to be secretary of labor was also received today, and plans were made to poll the labor and education committee in order to make an immediate report and speed his confirmation. The American Federation of Labor, while disapproving the nomination, has made no protest, and no opposition has arisen from others, so it is likely that Doak will be formally added to the president's cabinet in a few days.

Meanwhile the senate steering committee met and decided to give right-of-way to the Jones bill to reinstate the system of federal maternity aid to states which formerly prevailed under the Sheppard-Towner law, after the pending Parker bus regulation bill is disposed of.

The special session threat came up again on two measures demanded by the western Progressives. Senator George W. Norris, Rep. Nebraska, asked the steering committee to bring up the anti-injunction bill for early consideration. The administration-controlled committee told him that is was against precedent to give right-of-way to bills which have been adversely reported by committees. The judiciaray committee by a colse division refused a favorable report on this measure, which is advocated by western "Progressives" as restricting the abuse of injunctions and carrying out pledges of both political parties.

Conferees on Muscle Shoals, deadlocked between the two houses, met and decided to meet again Tuesday, at which time it is expected that the proposal of Senator Charles L. McNary, Rep., Oregon, for a report of disagreement will be made. The much-discussed "compromise" plan of Rep. Carroll Reece, Rep., Tenn., advocate of private-lease, was disapproved by all senate conferees.

Senate leaders have decided to try to dispose of all nominations before the Christmas holidays.

The list of nominations sent up today included five envoys to foreign countries; that of Eugene Meyer of New York to be chairman of the federal reserve board, Randolph Brandt to be a Texas federal judge, and many minor appointments.

Delay Seen In Bridge Work

MARTINEZ, Dec. 3.—Delay in construction of the Richmond-San Rafael bridge will be sought of the Contra Costa county board of supervisors by the American Toll Bridge company, Oscar Klatt, president of the organization announced today.

Work scheduled to start Jan. 1 of next year will be delayed until a later date if permission is granted, due to the present low state of the bond market. Bonds to be sold for the bridge's construction must be disposed of readily in order to further the work, it was explained.

Negotiations will be started immediately by the American Toll Bridge company to take over the Richmond-San Rafael ferry company, it was understood here today. The bridge concern has an option to purchase the ferry company.

Driver Guilty Of Charges

Sentence of Daniel Garcia found guilty of reckless driving as the result of a crash Nov. 16 which injured occupants of a car driven by William Nylan, will be meted out in Police Judge C. A. Odell's court today.

The crash occurred at the intersection of San Pablo and Macdonald avenues. At the trial yesterday at which Garcia was found guilty, his brother Robert Garcia of San Jose was convicted on a contempt of court charge.

It was the continual prompting from Robert Garcia to which the court objected and finally sentenced the man to five days in jail. The jail sentence was withdrawn and a $20 fine was levied in its place.

ELECTRIC KNIFE DESCRIBED AT MEETING

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—UP— An electric knife that cuts with a "cutting current electrode," sterilizing and sealing a wound as it progresses is replacing the surgeon's scapel, Dr. George A. Wyeth, of New York City, told delegates to the 16th annual convention of the radiological society of North America today.

He described a tiny blade connected to an electric cabinet that cuts through flesh by the heat of electricity. The heat, Dr. Wyeth said, sterilizes the wound and prevents spread of infection.

The knife is particularly valuable in performing operations on cancerous growths, he said.

Knife Lauded

"In sealing the wounds, as it parses, the knife avoids the danger of mechanical transplantation of cancer cells," he declared.

The knife is the contribution of the radiologist to surgical science, claimed Dr. Wyeth. The radiologists use the X-ray and radium for treatment of disease.

Among the other interesting papers read today was one by Dr. Maurice F. Dwyer, of Seattle. He urged vigilance on the part of physicians in recognizing that chronic dyspepsia, sometimes of years duration, is as frequent a forerunner of cancer as are recently developed gastric symptoms.

Dr. Wyeth said that ten percent of the general run of patients who consult a physician, do so because of gastric symptoms. However, he added, is recognition of cancer more important than in the stomach. He said that if cancer is recognized early enough, the X-ray is the means of advising the surgeon when he may safely intervene to remove the offending tumor.

Benign tumors of the stomach—those which do not recur after removal—are very uncommon, Dr. Dwier said. He added that cancer is many times more common and that stomach distress must be carefully watched.

Officials and executives of the society visited the laboratories of the California institute of technology tonight to honor Dr. Robert A. Millikan and to marvel at the 600,000 volt X-ray tube he perfected.

It is the strongest X-ray tube in the world, having as its nearest rival one of 200,000 volts. For three years it has been used for experiments of a physical nature, but never upon a human.

Dr. Millikan was presented a gold medal for his effective work in the field of X-ray. Presentation was made by Dr. Robert J. May, of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the radiolagical society of North America, which is holding its 16th annual convention in Los Angeles.

A similar award was made to Dr. Henry Schmitz, pioneer radiologist, whose work in radiotherapy in gyneology won him recognition. The ceremony was quite colorful, officials of the ciety and many medalists of past years appearing in academic robes and caps.

After receiving the medal, Dr. Millikan explained the complicated working of the tube and the experiments made so far. An associate at the school, Dr. C. C. Lauritson, gave a more detailed report on the tube.

He said that because of its great strentgh, long and detailed experiments would be necessary before it could be used on a human.

GERMAN LEADER HITS PAYMENTS TO ALLIES

BERLIN, Dec. 3.—UP—Immediate cessation of reparations payments—not merely the proclamation of a temporary moratorium—as a prelude to revision of the Young plan and the Versailles treaty was advocated energetically today by Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, influential political leader, and head of the nationalist party.

"We consider the burden of tribute imposed upon Germany by the peace treaties and subsequent agreements morally untenable and economically intolerable," Dr. Hugenberg said in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

"The people of Germany feel the burdens too great because in the first place they are founded on a long-exposed lie that Germany was solely guilty of causing the World war," Dr. Hugenberg declared.

"In the second place, the extent of Germany's tribute is contrary to Wilson's 14 points in reliance upon which Germany surrendered her arms.

"In the third place, the German reparations have long since ceased to serve to repair the damages of the war, and in France are being used to finance excessive armaments.

"Furthermore, the reparations obligations—which Germany has never met from her own resources but has paid always from foreign loans—so far exceed Germany's capacity to pay that the foreign influence in German economy and the distress of the German people is increasing to a dangerous degree."

Dr. Hugenberg declared that not only Germany but the whole world's business "is suffering from the effects of the present reparations system."

"We demand immediate revision and settlement of the payments on a scale not exceeding Germany's economic capacity. We must refuse every illusory revision, every settlement failing to attain this goal. In like fashion, we must reject any attempt to link the reparations with the 'Entente' nations debts to the United States."

Mother, Tot, Killed In Train-Car Crash

PALO ALTO.—A mother and her seven-year-old daughter were instantly killed today when they were struck by the Southern Pacific "Lark" after the car driven by the mother drove onto the tracks here.

Mrs. Rose M. Christianson was the mother while Betty Jane was the daughter killed. The girl was being taken to school when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Christianson had stopped at the crossing to allow a southbound train to pass and then drove onto the tracks as the northbound "Lark" roared past.

Bodies of the two victims were badly mangled and the automobile was completely wrecked.

California Couple Killed In Car Crash

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Dec. 3.—A car bearing a California license skidded from the road near here today and killed a man and woman.

Cards carried by the couple identified them as Mr. and Mrs. George F. Cable. Cable was believed to be a traveling representative of A. B. Bedell and Son, Adrian, Michigan.

Man Arraigned On Check Charge

Bail for Steve Stimac, 34, of Jackson, arrested on a charge of attempting to pass a bad check on a local shoe store, was set at $2500 yesterday when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace A. A. Alstrom.

Stimac was arrested last Saturday at a shoe store at 820 Macdonald avenue. He purchased a pair of shoes and offered a check for $29.50, bearing the name of J. L. Barnaman, local furniture dealer, police say. James Hopkins, shoe clerk, telephoned to Barnaman to verify the signature, and, meanwhile Stimac tried to leave the store. However, he was prevented from leaving by Gordon Lemon, local high school boy.

OFFICERS FOR K.P. LODGE ELECTED

William H. Durbin will be installed chancellor commander of Richmond Knights of Pythians on Jan. 14 at a ceremony where other officers elected by the lodge last night will also be conducted into office. Durbin succeeds William H. Long, retiring chancellor commander.

No Christmas party will be held this year by the lodge, but funds usually expended for that purpose will be turned to aid members who have suffered financial reverses during the present year.

District convention of the lodge will be held in Crockett at a date to be set in the near future, F. G. Blackhart announced last night.

A class of candidates for initiation in the Pythian Bible class in San Francisco Feb. 19, 1931 will be sought by Chancellor Commander-elect Durbin as soon as he has taken office.

The Bible to be used at this ceremony will be the same one used in 1864 when the original class was initiated. Harry M. Love, supreme keeper of records and seals of Minneapolis, Minn., plans to make a special trip to California to conduct the initiation. Seven other class are planned to be initiated during that same period.

Other officers elected last night were: J. P. Rihn, vice chancellor; F. T. Klick, prelate; W. H. Long, master of works; F. G. Blackart, keeper of records and seals; G. M. Deathe, master of finance.

J. C. Bly, master of exchequer; J. Sindicich, master of arms; W. Richard, inner guard; I. J. Davis, outer guard; C. C. Cozby, trustee.

The Democrats in Congress may co-operate with the Republicans, but Senator Borah will keep right on being a minority of one.

Answers to correspondents: The easiest way to get a Yale-Harvard ticket is to be graduated from Yale or Harvard.

You can now send pictures by wireless to Germany and New York. But you still need wire to hang them up.

While this country is having its recounts, we wish they would finally straighten out that disputed seat at the table for Alice or Mrs. Gann.

Selling theater tickets at telegraph offices is O. K., but we hope you don't have to stand in a box office line to wire the wife you won't be home tonight.

Christmas is drawing near and there are only 113 more days of Senator Heflin, too.

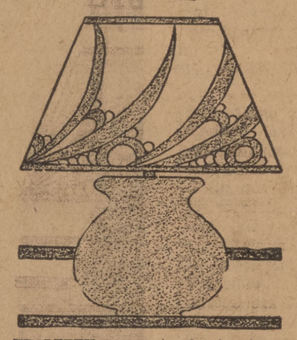
A Lamp From a Beanpot



PRETTY accessories for the home do not have to cost a heap of money. Many good looking things can be made if home makers have the courage of their convictions. Too often they are afraid to try this or that for fear it might look funny or cheap.

Have you ever considered that gray glazed bean pot as a lamp base? Just as attractive as a pottery lamp that costs more money than you wish to spend at this time is a lamp from the common bean pot. One artistic woman attached a screw type electric lamp fixture to the open top of such a pot, added a plain tailored shade of henna colored Korean silk with a shellacked surface and set the lamp on a teak-wood stand.

Being plain and ultra-simple, the lamp is restful to the eyes when unlighted as well as when giving out a soft glow. The shade can be made by any woman with nimble fingers. Get a wire shade of the five or six-section type, and cover with this rough-surfaced Oriental silk, making the sections on the bias so that the heavy threads will show on the diagonal. Bind the top and bottom edges neatly, shellac the surface, and lo! a handsome shade is yours for a very small price.

They Said of Their Wives

Debts That Great Men Have Acknowledged to the Women Who Inspired Them

MRS. HERBERT ASQUITH

THE Earl of Oxford and Asquith, known more plainly as Herbert Asquith, the distinguished English statesman, was married twice. And it is interesting to compare his estimates of two wives.

MRS. HERBERT ASQUITH

His first wife he married when he was an obscure young scholar, doing examining work for English schools. She was Helen Melland, daughter of a Manchester doctor. She died, and of her he said:

"After fourteen years of unclouded companionship she was taken away, leaving five children."

She merely left the memory of unclouded companionship.

At the age of forty-one he married again. The second wife was the now celebrated Margot Asquith, the youngest daughter of Sir Charles Tennant. And this is what he said of her:

"My life since that date (of his second marriage) has been lived in full partnership with her, and all our experiences, both of joy and sorrow—and there has been a large measure of both—have been shared in common.

"By force of circumstances, we have seemed to live much in the glare of publicity, but our true life has been elsewhere. . . . There never can have been a politician who owed more than I have done to the wise counsels, the unfailing courage and the ever-vitalizing companionship of a wife."

The first woman was a loving companion, but the other, as a brilliant intellectual, a leader in social, diplomatic and art circles, and a gifted writer, was the one who left the greater impress on the man.

Margot Asquith was a spinster of thirty when she married.

Thanksgiving Tables

A LOW bowl filled with chrysanthemums will ornament the center of many a Thanksgiving dinner table, but one likes a change, so a basket decorated with artificial autumn leaves and filled with fruit might serve as a centerpiece and small baskets similarly decorated and filled with salted nuts, at each plate, make an attractive table decoration.

A distinctive centerpiece is a low dish filled with low green shrubbery. If you have planted a dish of grapefruit seeds, this may just answer the purpose. Put a skewer in the end of a kumquat and place these upright among the greens. In the center of the dish set a tall, orange colored candle and you will have a very pretty and an appropriate centerpiece for your Thanksgiving dinner table.

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

If you are not addicted to the traditional autumn desserts of old New England—pumpkin and mince pies—it is very likely your idea of a perfect finale to dinner at this season is an abundant fruit bowl from which you can choose your favorites. Persimmons, apples, grapes, pears, oranges and perhaps a cluster of big Spanish raisins offer variety to please almost every taste. But to be really complete, fresh fruit as dessert ought to be accompanied by crisp, home-made cookies. Just try this combination once and see how popular it is.

KAREN HOLLIS

Chocolate brownies and date-nut squares are the reigning favorites among home-made cookies. If we are to judge from the innumerable requests for recipes for them which come into this department. But even if your family are devoted to these cooky-jar standbys and insist that nothing else could be quite so good, just try the following recipe on them and see if it, too, doesn't join the ranks of first favorites.

These cookies are delicious to serve with afternoon tea, with frozen custards or with fruit compotes, as well as with fresh fruit.

PRESERVED GINGER COOKIES

¾ cup butter.
2 cups brown sugar.
2 eggs, well beaten.
½ teaspoon soda.
1½ teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
3½ cups flour (about).
¼ cream (or evaporated milk).
½ cup finely chopped preserved ginger.

Cream the butter and add sugar gradually. Add eggs, beating until mixture is light and fluffy. Sift flour once, measure, add soda, baking powder and salt and sift twice more. Add to the mixture alternately in small amounts with the cream or evaporated milk. Mix thoroughly, adding only enough flour to make stiff dough. Add ginger and form into a roll. Stand in refrigerator over night to chill. Next day slice very thin and bake in a moderate oven about twelve minutes or until slightly brown.

The Piecing Out of Inadequate Equipment

The Things to Choose When the Budget Is Limited and the Desire for Charm Prompts Careful Purchases

By ALMA ZAISS

"LA PECHE MARITIME," A COPPER PLATE TOILE IN RED AND WHITE DESIGNED ABOUT 1780. THERE ARE SEVENTY-FIVE EQUALLY INTERESTING EXAMPLES OF RARE OLD PRINTED TEXTILES IN THIS COLLECTION WHICH WILL BE SHOWN DURING NOVEMBER.

PROBLEM NO. 1

Dear Miss Zaiss:

Will you help me with my very difficult problem? It is an L-shaped entrance hall of my apartment, like I have shown in the floor plan. The walls are ivory and seem so bare, but the hall is so small I hardly know what to get for it. As yet I haven't bought a thing, so any suggestions that you can give me will be gratefully appreciated.

(Mrs.) H. R. McC.

Shallow Pieces Nicely Furnish This Narrow Hall

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

IT IS hard for us to forget the fine and ample hallway that was part of almost every well-planned home some fifteen or twenty years ago. Harder still to banish the picture of the old colonial halls with their formal "vestibules" and vistas of graceful winding stairs just beyond. It is to the persistence of these memories, and our reluctance to give them up to meet changed housing problems, that we must attribute much of our inability to see any possibilities at all in the peculiar little halls that have come to be standard in modern houses.

Mrs. McC., gazing down the long, narrow space that has been allotted to her home, sees it as a mere alleyway with a small and useless "L" at one side—endless feet of floor space and bare walls with not enough room between them to accommodate a single piece of worth-while furniture.

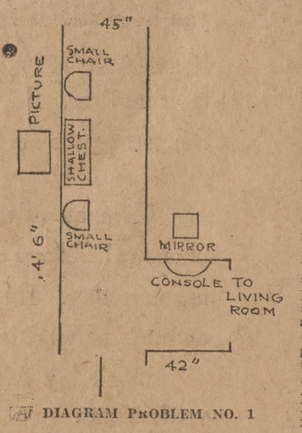

DIAGRAM PROBLEM NO. 1

And so it might be, if there were not in the world many extremely interesting appointments designed along lines that meet just such problems. True, we shall not find in this foyer room for a full-sized console and a bulky chest with regulation chairs. But do we need them in the formal entry? Are not such pieces as the dainty little rounding console with its small though decorative mirror sufficient to please us and beckon us in as we enter the foyer? And would not a very shallow chest with a handsome picture above it and a pair of small but comfortable chairs at either side give a suggestion of sufficiency without great size? The diagram shows two such groups in good position—the console on the wall that faces one entering the foyer and the chest with its chairs centered—for better balance—on the long left-hand wall. If a chest of drawers is not desired then a shallow carved chest with a panel of old brocade behind it would be equally suitable.

This is the simplest remedy we can suggest for the problem, and it is one which, without further embellishment, would give Mrs. McC. a very pleasing entrance. If she wishes to be still more decorative, she can make her walls especially interesting and colorful by treating them to scenic paper that provides a vista through archways or trees leading down a winding road toward a romantic garden or an open field. The effect of distance and greater width thus created would be surprising. And in such a narrow hall it is always well to remember that complete carpeting from wall to wall gives a foundation that seems wider than one where several rugs are used.

Mirrors, of course, have always stood first on the list of space-makers. When used in large dimensions they practically double the apparent width of a hall or room; they also light up the dark corners by catching every ray of light and flash of color and motion that comes their way and sending them back multiplied. Many delightful things are being done today with mirrors. Whole dressing alcoves are made of them; entire halls built with mirrored walls and ceilings; little recesses in the wall are given mirror backs and tops for tables are made of mirror glass, which reflects interesting objects of art placed on and above them. But for today's problem we have chosen another way to break up unpleasant dimensions and create the effect of greater space.

With these various suggestions and the diagram of arrangement to guide her, we are sure Mrs. McC. can make her own choice of remedies—selecting colors and types of furniture that best harmonize with the appointments in her living room beyond, which she has neglected to outline for us.

PROBLEM NO. 2

Dear Miss Zaiss:

I have followed with interest the columns conducted by you and, while previously I have not had the occasion to seek your advice, I shall now number myself among the hundreds to benefit by your suggestions.

I am moving into a four-room suite from a three-room. I am planning to make the fourth room into a dining den, and am in a complete dilemma as to whether or not it would be advisable for me to use the miniature dining set which I have been using up until now in the dining alcove. I am afraid this set would look completely lost in its new surroundings. It consists of one arm ladder chair, three side ladder chairs, a small server, size 36x14 inches, and a hexagonal table 36x36 inches, which opens up into size 36x54 inches—all in walnut.

Do you think it advisable to replace these, though I would very much like to utilize as much as possible and save additional expense? I never did like a stereotyped dining room set, so possibly you could suggest the additional pieces needed. I mentioned dining "den"—not to replace the living room, which I will also have, but more as a room of cheer in which to dine and play adult games. The room measures 15x16 feet.

MRS. S. B. S.

Two New Pieces All This Room Needs Just Now

SINCE Mrs. S. has an adequate living room and wishes to make of the room in question a place in which to dine comfortably, and also desires to use in it the small furniture which she has at present, our advice would be to treat it purely as a dining room and to abandon the den idea, which does not seem to possess as many possibilities for cheer and daily comfort.

The small dining room furniture already on hand should lend itself quite well to the larger scheme if arranged in the manner outlined on the diagram. Important additions suggested are but two—the new chest and mirror and a corner cupboard, which may be bought unfinished, painted the color of the wall and lined with turquoise or a contrasting color. We would cover the radiator, place a few growing plants on its top, and have chintz overcurtains at the windows, selecting a pattern with a deep cream ground and a design in coral, reds and turquoise tones.

Over the new chest there should be a good mirror to reflect a bowl of fruit or flowers, and over the server we should like to see a rather important flower painting or a good

Pewter and quaint china or colonial glass on the shelves of the corner cupboard would add more color and interest to the room.

The ladder-back arm chair may be placed at the head of the table and at some future time Mrs. S. might add another armchair for the place opposite; also a fourth side chair, which would give her a set of six and provide adequate furnishing for the room. It might also be nice to use pads of some plain color found in the chintz, perhaps turquoise of a deep blue-greenish tone. The table should be placed in the center of the room and kept opened out to full extent. A screen is not necessary in the scheme, but if one were placed in an angling position to the left of the entrance door on the dining room side it might prove quite effective as a means of introducing color and pattern in the far end of the room, and at the same time prevent those entering the foyer from looking straight through to the dining room.

Safety in the Bathtub

IF YOU are not sure-footed you are quite apt to slip in the bathtub, but this may be averted by placing a mat in the bottom of the tub. Several varieties of mats for this purpose are procurable. Some cautious persons spread a turkish towel over the bottom of the tub, but this is liable to slip, so it would be better to purchase a terry mat. These are inexpensive and are equipped with suction discs that hold the mat in place and give a firm foundation that prevents slipping.

Another bathtub danger that causes many accidents is holding on to the edge of the bathtub with the wet hand while trying to get out of the tub. This danger may easily be obviated by just wringing the wash cloth and laying it over that part of the porcelain tub that your hand touches. You will find you can thus secure a firm hold to raise yourself and you will be able to step out of the tub easily and in perfect safety.

Ventilation in the Home

IT IS probably quite safe to say that in most homes ventilation does not receive proper attention. We are well aware that fresh air is necessary to sustain life and we invariably go outside to get this, but how about our homes?

Air confined in an occupied room becomes unfit for breathing, therefore the health of the family demands a change of air and it has been calculated that there should be one complete change an hour, which really is not an absolute change to fresh air, but the air coming into the room mixes with the foul air in sufficient quantity to make the room air suitable for healthful respiration.

In many homes there is a considerable leaking in of fresh air through window, door and floor cracks and this helps, but housekeepers consider the waste of fuel and the impossibility to secure adequate heat when high winds prevail, so weather strips or storm windows are installed and this cuts off all fresh air supply.

Each person exhales about six-tenths cubic foot of carbon dioxide per hour. While this in itself is not really dangerous to health, an accumulation of this gas in a room, together with the other gases that are given off, is a menace to health.

When you begin to feel dull and a headache develops you may diagnose it as a case of carbon dioxide in the room, and the remedy is fresh air. Each person requires about 1,800 cubic feet of fresh air per hour to dilute the carbon dioxide, so see to it that every occupied room in your home receives proper ventilation. A room containing ample fresh air is easier to heat than one filled with vitiated air.

Do Your Shoes Pinch?

ONE woman has a novel method for breaking in new shoes.

When she puts them on the first time she runs the sewing machine for ten minutes. Her claim is that the shoes will relax to the feet, and will not pinch as new shoes sometimes have a habit of doing.

If the soles of new shoes burn or pinch, placing the foot with the shoe on in a pan of water that does not extend above the sole, will give relief.

Worth Trying

If your teakettle is heavy to handle hold it in both hands when filling it from the faucet and rest the two forefingers on the faucet. This will relieve all weight on the arms.

Soak the rusty curtain hooks in cloudy ammonia for half an hour, then stir and they will look like new.

I ATE TOO MUCH TURKEY YESTERDAY

MATE TESTIFIES IN TRIAL OF WIFE

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 3.—UP—Events leading up to the disappearance and slaying of 10-year old Leona O'Loughlin were related at the trial late today of Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin, charged with the murder of her stepdaughter, by her husband, Leo, a city detective, who testified as a state witness.

Judge Henley A Calvert permitted the father of the slain girl to testify over objections of the defense, who held that the statute prohibited him from testifying against his wife without her consent. Mrs. O'Loughlin refused to give her consent.

The prosecution regarded the court's ruling as of major importance to its case. The defendant hung on every word her husband said. She appeared near collapse when Judge Calvert announced his decision.

Under cross examination by John M. Keating, chief defense counsel, O'Loughlin declared he told his partner, Detective Clarence Jones, to search the lake at Berkeley park for Leona's body. At this time he was in a hospital from the effects of eating ground glass, which the state charges was fed to him by his wife, and had not been informed of his daughter's fate.
